

Overview

The APAC region has gained popularity in the establishment of family offices in recent years, driven by the region's economic growth, strategic location of major financial centres like Hong Kong and Singapore, and strong government support. In this seminar, the speaker will examine the key differences between single family offices (SFOs) and multi-family offices (MFOs), as well as explore the diverse practices of family offices across various jurisdictions and the unique opportunities and challenges they present. Given that talent is a crucial driving force in the business operations of family offices, the speaker will also delve into the importance of attracting and retaining top talent within the family office space.
